I. INTRODUCTION

The Citizens' Council for Justice (CCJ) conducted a sample survey in 50 villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts of north Kashmir.

CCJ would like to thank the International People's Tribunal on Human Rights and Justice in Indian-administered Kashmir (IPTK). CCJ sought expert advice and assistance from IPTK in designing the questionnaire for the survey. CCJ also thanks the Jammu Kashmir Coalition of Civil Society and the Association of Parents of Disappeared Persons for their guidance.

CCJ undertook the research, analysis and writing of this report. The male volunteers of CCJ carried out the field research. The research took almost a year to complete as members of CCJ who were working as field researchers did the work without remuneration and in their spare time.

CCJ is a voluntary initiative, formed in the year 2008 by torture survivors and former detainees from Baramulla and Kupwara districts. CCJ aims to work for individual and collective justice of those who have been victimised. It is non-political community-based organisation that has a wide range of members from different sections of society.

II. METHODOLOGY

The members of CCJ who carried out the field research work belonged to some of the villages where the survey was conducted. Therefore, it became easier for the people in these villages to talk to our CCJ researchers without fear. CCJ researchers who were residents of these localities were themselves aware of factual details relating to the suffering of people from their villages. Normally, due to fear of reprisal, people in the rural areas of Kashmir do not share stories of suffering, but as local people were involved in the survey, it was comparatively easier for CCJ researchers to elicit responses from the respondents.

All the 50 surveyed villages lie within Baramulla and Kupwara districts of north Kashmir. Both districts fall on the Line of Actual Control. Out of the total of 50 villages, 31 villages are in Baramulla district, while the remaining 19 villages are in Kupwara district.

Singpora, Pattan of Baramulla district is 20 Kilometers from Srinagar; the summer capital of Indian administered Jammu and Kashmir, and happens to be the closest surveyed village to Srinagar. Chandigam, Sogam of Kupwara district is 120 Kilometers from Srinagar, and is the farthest village amongst the 50 surveyed villages from Baramulla and Kupwara district.

One of the challenges for CCJ field researchers was to convince the people in these 50 villages of the need for documenting the stories of the people of Jammu and Kashmir.

People generally have very little hope from government institutions and are thus very skeptical of any initiative that is aimed at seeking justice using government mechanisms. Through explaining the purpose of the research at various detailed discussions at the village-level, CCJ researchers had persons come forward who voluntarily agreed to talk to them.

The process of documentation in these 50 surveyed villages helped in creating a shared space for people to collectively reflect on their experiences of human rights abuses that they have suffered in last 22 years from all sides. The process created a grassroots mechanism for the villages to be able to share their understanding of who the perpetrators of violence were. In every village it was a collective process where villagers themselves listed those who were killed or disappeared in last 22 years and, when they had the available information, they also listed the perpetrator. People listed the names of those who were either tortured or disabled or jailed or used as forced labourers. People collectively helped CCJ volunteers document the destruction of property, including that of religious places. Overall, the whole process of documentation in these 50 villages was an enriching experience for the CCJ workers and also for the concerned people of these villages who gave their input, and it was a process of grieving, healing and remembering.

III. ANALYSIS

SUMMARY

The survey was conducted by CCJ in 50 villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts.

The results show that the people of these villages were severely brutalised over a long period of time, from 1990-2011, by being repeatedly subjected to torture (including violence against women), forced labour, disappearance, and death. The means of livelihood for the people in the 50 villages were also jeopardised through land occupation and militarisation, including the militarisation of civic spaces.

In these 50 villages, CCJ found that 437 people have been killed and 65 persons have disappeared. Out of the 437 people who were killed, 320 were killed by Army, Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF), Border Security Force (BSF), Jammu and Kashmir Police, and government sponsored militants. Militants were responsible for 84 killings and unidentified gunmen were responsible for 33 killings. In the 50 villages, and 2048 persons have been tortured in 57 army camps.

In the 50 villages surveyed by CCJ, 40 people have been killed by armed forces and police in custody; 49 people have been disabled; and 6888 persons have been subjected to forced labour. A total of 700 properties have been destroyed with damages of around 103.8 Crores Rupees; and 19 army camps have occupied 2047 Kanals of prime village lands. Out of the 234 Mosques in the 50 villages, 5 were destroyed, and of the 11 Hindu Temples, 4 were destroyed.

The people CCJ spoke with demanded the demilitarisation of their villages, and asked that the perpetrators, whomever they be, be punished under law, and that the victims be awarded righteous compensation, and urgent provisions be made for the rehabilitation and reconstruction of their lives. CCJ found that, predominantly persons of Muslim faith have been targeted, and some Kashmiri Pandits of Hindu faith and a handful of Sikhs have also been targeted. Even while the people of these villages expressed their demands for justice, it was abundantly clear to CCJ that, what has been physically, psychologically, and emotionally taken from these people, is irreparable.

VILLAGES SURVEYED

The following list is of the 31 villages in Baramulla district that were surveyed:

Note: Some of the villages that CCJ surveyed in Baramulla and Kupwara districts, in which many atrocities occurred, were the same ones in which IPTK investigated unknown, unmarked and mass graves as listed in IPTK's report Buried Evidence, which was published in 2009.

DEMOGRAPHICS

The total human population of the 50 surveyed villages in the year 2011 was 1,61,086. Out of the total population of 1,61,086, the population of men was 89,693 and that of women was 70,883. In these 50 villages, the population of children below 18 years was 42,604. The total number of literate people in the 50 surveyed villages was 98,883. Of this, 34,951 females were literate.

KILLINGS AND ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCES

From the year 1990, which was the beginning of the armed uprising in Jammu and Kashmir, a total of 502 people have been killed and disappeared in the 50 surveyed villages in Baramulla and Kupwara. Of the 502 persons who were killed and disappeared: 499 were of Islamic faith, 2 were of Hindu faith, and 1 was of the Sikh faith.

TOTAL NUMBER OF PEOPLE DEAD/DISAPPEARED/MISSING	502
	Dead	Disappeared	Missing on LOC
	437	23	42

The death and disappearance of 502 people in 50 villages is an alarming phenomenon. Out of the total 502 killed and disappeared, 437 people have been killed and 23 were subjected to enforced disappearances, while 42 people, according to the local population of these villages, may have been killed in encounters or arrested while infiltrating or crossing over to the Pakistani Administered Kashmir for arms-training.

WORST YEARS

According to the year wise data of the people killed from these 50 surveyed villages from 1990 to 2011, the highest number of killings took place between 1992 and 1997. Around 274 people were killed from these 50 surveyed villages between the years 1992 and 1997.

The highest number killings in a single year from these 50 villages have taken place in the year 1993, when 53 people were killed. In the years 1992 to 1995 more than 50 people were getting each year from these 50 villages.

In the year 1992 a total of 52 people were killed, while as 53 people were killed in 1993, 50 people were killed in 1994, 51 people were killed in 1995, 42 people were killed in 1996 and 26 people were killed in 1997 from these 50 surveyed villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts.

RELIGION OF THOSE KILLED

Of these 502 people who have been killed or disappeared 499 were of Muslim decent, 2 were of Hindu decent (Kashmiri Pandits) and 1 was a Sikh.

The two Kashmiri Pandits who were killed in these 50 villages during the last 22 years were Jaggar Nath and Brendh Lal. Both were residents of Handwara Town in Kupwara district and were killed in 2003. Most of the Kashmiri Pandits migrated from the valley in early 1990 onwards and very few Kashmiri Pandits remained in the valley.

Jaggar Nath son of Mohan Lal, a 45-year-old government employee (Patwari) and Brendh Lal son of Shamji, 60-year-old civilian were both killed by unidentified gunmen. Both Jaggar Nath and Brendh Lal were married with their families living with them.

The one Sikh who was killed from these 50 villages in last 22 years is Inder Singh, a 55-year-old civilian, son of Sadhu Singh and a resident of Mirangund, Baramulla. Militants of Hizbul Mujahideen killed Inder Singh in 2001. Inder Singh was married and was living with his family.

AFFILIATIONS OF THOSE KILLED

The people who were killed from these 50 surveyed villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts are from different socio-economic backgrounds. Out of the total 437 people killed in these 50 villages, 192 were civilians, 225 were militants belonging to various militant organisations, 4 were working in Jammu and Kashmir Police, 4 were working as army informers, and 12 were ex-militants.

Out of these 437 people killed in 50 villages, 320 were killed by various government agencies, militants killed 84 and 33 were killed by unidentified gunmen.

Out of the 437 people killed since 1990 to 2011, 421 were men and 16 were women.

The age of the youngest person killed is 5 year and the oldest killed is 75. Around 41 persons killed were children between the age group of 5 to 18 years old.

According to the data of killed from these 50 villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts, the most vulnerable section is of people between 19 to 30 age group. Around 245 people between the age group of 19 to 30 years have been killed by various agencies. The second most vulnerable section is of people in the age group of 31 to 45 years, as around 102 people in this age group have been killed by various agencies. Of the 437 killed, 41 persons were between 5-18 years of age, and between the age group of 46 to 75, a total of 49 persons were killed during last 22 years by various agencies.

PERPETRATORS

While different groups have carried out the killings of these 437 people from these 50 villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts, government agencies seem to be the major perpetrators. Out of 437 people killed, 320 were killed by Army, Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF), Border Security Force (BSF), Jammu and Kashmir Police and government sponsored militants.

Out of the 320 people killed by government agencies, 114 were civilians, 201 were militants, 1 belonged to Jammu and Kashmir Police and 4 were ex-militants who had shunned militancy after being released from jails serving different detention periods.

Amongst the 320 people killed by government agencies, 241 were killed by Army, 63 were killed by BSF, 5 were killed by CRPF, 4 by Jammu and Kashmir Police and the government sponsored militants have killed 7 people from these 50 villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts between 1990 and 2011.

The 320 people killed by government agencies were between the age group of 5 to 75 years. The youngest person killed by government agencies in the 50 surveyed villages is a 5 year old while as the oldest person killed in a 75 year old person. The most vulnerable age group, which was killed by government agencies, is between the age group of 19 to 30. A total of 189 out of 320 people killed by government agencies are from the age group of 19 to 30 years. Out of 320 people killed by government agencies, 35 people were between the age group of 5 to 18 years, 71 people were between the age group of 31 to 45 years and 25 people were between the age group of 46 to 75 years.

The militants have been responsible for killing 84 people out of the total 437 people killed in these 50 villages. The 84 people killed by militants were from different socio-economic backgrounds. 51 out of the total 84 killed by militants were civilians, 19 were militants, 2 belonged to Jammu and Kashmir Police, 4 were army informers, and 8 were ex-militants.

The age group of the 84 people killed by militants, ranges between 5 to 70 years old. The youngest person killed by militants in the 50 surveyed villages is a 5 year old while as the oldest person killed in a 70 year old person. The most vulnerable age group targeted by militants is between the age group of 19 to 30. Out of the total 84 persons killed by militants between 1990 to 2011, a total of 40 persons were between the age group of 19 to 30, 5 persons were between the age group of 5 to 18 years, 22 were between the age group of 31 to 45 years and 17 were between the age group of 46 to 70 years.

The unidentified gunmen have been responsible for killing 33 persons out of the total 437 people killed in these 50 villages. The 33 persons killed by unidentified gunmen were from different socio-economic backgrounds. 27 out of the 33 persons killed by unidentified gunmen were civilians, 5 were militants and 1 was a Jammu and Kashmir police personnel.

The age group of the 33 people killed by unidentified gunmen, ranges between 18 to 65 year old. The youngest person killed is an 18 year old and the oldest is a 65 year old. The most vulnerable age group targeted by the unidentified gunmen in these 50 villages during 1990 to 2011, is between the age group of 19 to 30 years. Out of the total 33 persons killed by unidentified gunmen, 16 persons were between the age group of 19 to 30, while as one was an 18 year old, 9 persons were between the age group of 31 to 45 years, and 7 persons were between the age group of 46 to 75 years.

DISAPPEARANCES

Enforced disappearance is a very prevalent form of human rights abuse across all the districts of Jammu and Kashmir. In the 50 surveyed villages, CCJ found the similar pattern. A total of 65 people have disappeared from these 50 villages. Out of the 65 persons 23 have been subjected to enforced disappearance, while as the remaining 42 people have disappeared either infiltrating or leaving along the line of control between Indian and the Pakistani administered Kashmir.

The 23 persons who disappeared from their homes and localities were between the age group of 17 to 55 years. There are 2 persons from these 50 surveyed villages who were below 18 years old and were disappeared. The age group of 19 to 30 remains the most vulnerable section with 11 persons being disappeared from these 50 villages during 1989 to 2011. From the age group of 31 to 45, 6 persons were disappeared and 4 persons were between the age group of 46 to 55 years.

These 23 persons who disappeared from these 50 villages during 1989 to 2011 were from different socio-political backgrounds. Out of 23 persons total disappeared 20 were civilians, 1 was a militant, 1 belonged to Jammu and Kashmir Police, while as 1 was an army informer.

The agencies responsible for disappearance of these 23 persons from 50 villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts are primarily the state actors, with 16 allegations against the various state armed groups, while as 5 persons have been disappeared by militants and 2 have been disappeared by unidentified gunmen.

Out of the 16 persons disappeared by state actors, 7 have been disappeared by army, 7 by Border Security Force (BSF), 1 by Jammu and Kashmir Police and 1 by the government sponsored militants.

Amongst the 5 disappeared by militants, 4 have been disappeared by Hizbul Mujahideen militant outfit, while as 1 person have been disappeared by unidentified militant organisation.

The unidentified gunmen have been responsible for disappearing 2 persons from these 50 surveyed villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts.

MISSING ALONG THE LINE OF CONTROL

A total number of 42 persons from these 50 surveyed villages have disappeared either infiltrating or leaving the line of control between Indian Administered Kashmir and the Pakistani Administered Kashmir. In the last 22 years many young boys who were trying to cross over to the Pakistani Administered Kashmir were killed or arrested while infiltrating or leaving. The fate of these boys is certainly not known. Army may have killed some of them but it is not known where they have been buried. They may have been buried in unmarked graves, but their graves have never been indentified to their families.

The 42 people who have disappeared along the LOC from these 50 villages range in the age group of 16 to 40 years. Out of 42 persons disappeared around LOC 10 are below the age of 18, while as 25 are between the age group of 19 to 30 years and 7 are between the age group of 31 to 40 years.

The 42 men who were disappeared or killed on the Line of Control were also victims of enforced disappearance as the families have no information as to whether they are dead or alive, and if they are dead, the families have not been given the dead bodies of these men and neither has the government identified the places of their burial. The 23 cases of enforced disappearances and 42 cases of disappearance and death along the Line of Control are important to the issue of unmarked and unknown graves, as these bodies were never recovered and their whereabouts are unknown.

TORTURE

In all these 50 surveyed villages, one of the most unreported human rights abuses that came across to CCJ field researchers was that of physical torture. In every village our researchers were overwhelmed to hear the tales of torture. In every village a large number of people spoke to our researchers about their torture experiences and it was not possible for our researchers to hear all the stories.

- Total number of people tortured in 50 surveyed villages – 2048.
- Number of torture survivors who are named in 50 surveyed villages – 465.
- Number of torture survivors who for fear of reprisals did not want to be identified in 50 surveyed villages – 1583.

Around 2048 persons from these 50 surveyed villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts have been severely physically tortured by Army, BSF, CRPF and Police. Despite many people being willing to speak to us regarding their torture which was inflicted on them, a huge majority did not want to be indentified at all in our research for fears of reprisals. Around 1583 persons from these villages preferred to not be identified and 465 persons gave the consent to be identified.

The severe physical torture of 2048 people out of an adult male population of approximately 67,000 is a striking number and highlights the gross abuse of human rights suffered by people in these areas.

The methods of torture have been extremely brutal. Many people complained besides harsh beatings by sticks, electrocution of private parts, rolling of wooden rollers over the legs, stretching of legs and arms, dipping the head in water bucket, burning of skin by cigarette bits or by blue lamps, denial of sleep, hanging upside down etc as some of the methods of torture they have experienced.

The physical and psychological aftermath of torture have haunted. Fear continues to haunt these torture survivors and their families, because of which a large number of torture survivors (1583 persons in all) have refused to be identified during this research.

There are many more people in these villages who have been beaten atleast once by armed forces and have considered that beating as minor torture and therefore never bothered to report such violence.

PLACES OF TORTURE

In our field research, with the help of the torture survivors, we were able to indentify the list of torture centres, besides the homes, fields, orchards and streets, where torture was inflicted on the people from these 50 surveyed villages. In total, CCJ identified 57 armed forces camps and police stations where these 2048 persons from 50 villages were tortured between 1990-2011. Many people have been tortured in more then one of these camps.

Almost all the camps listed below continue to exist, but camps like Khanoo Babagund Camp, Bomai Camp, Kalantra Camp, Shrakwara Camp, Haigam Camp and Malmapan Pora Camp have been removed in last 6 years. This may or may not be part of demilitarisation, as some of the camps, according to our information, were redeployed or integrated with other bigger camps.

List of camps that have been indentified by torture survivors as torture centres:

57. Mirangund Camp, Keeri, district Baramulla

FORCED LABOUR

Another form of torture inflicted on the people from these 50 surveyed villages, which was researched by CCJ researchers was that of Forced Labour. In many villages the practice of forced labour was very widely prevalent and was institutionalised. Between 1989 and 2011 around 6888 persons from these 50 villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts were subjected to forced labour. It was mostly the adult men from these villages who have been subjected to forced labour and women were generally spared from forced labour but sometimes women too were subjected to forced labour.

The adult male from these 50 surveyed villages who have been subjected to forced labour were forced to work in the camps, mostly to do the different jobs inside the camps. For a long time in many surveyed villages and other areas in Jammu and Kashmir villagers were asked to help army in detecting mines on the streets and sometimes even people were asked to help lead army for launching military operations inside the localities or in jungles.

The 6888 persons being subjected to forced labour is a very huge number for any place, but for 50 villages whose total adult male population accounts to approximately around 67000, this figure explains the modes of invasive and pervasive punishment been inflicted by the state actors on the people from these villages. In fact, forced labour of 6888 persons should be recognised as another form of torture that has impacted people both as individuals and as a collective.

CUSTODIAL KILLINGS

Custodial killings continue to take place in Jammu and Kashmir even in the year 2012. In these 50 surveyed villages custodial killings have also been one of the human rights abuse. Since 1989 to 2011, around 40 people have been killed by armed forces and police in custody from the 50 villages surveyed by CCJ.

The youngest persons killed in custody by the state actors in these 50 surveyed villages were 17 year old and the oldest person killed in custody was a 70-year-old man. These 40 persons killed in custody belong to different age groups. Out of 40 persons killed in custody, 3 are of less than 18 years age, 25 are between the age group of 19 to 30 years, 5 are between the age group of 31 to 45 years and 7 are between the age group of 46 to 70 years old.

According to the local people from these 50 surveyed villages out of 40 persons killed in custody, 20 were civilians, 18 were militants and 2 were Ex-militants.

The state actors who were responsible for carrying out these 40 custodial killings from these 50 villages belonged to Army, Police and BSF. Army is responsible for killing 34 out of the total 40 persons killed from these 50 villages, while as BSF is responsible for killing 5 persons in custody and Police is responsible for killing 1 person in custody.

DISABILITY

In the last 22 years of armed conflict, the figures of dead were to a certain extent counted but unfortunately the information related to injured and disabled was not at all documented and was also minimally reported by the media. A total number of people 49 people became disabled from these 50 surveyed villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts since 1989 to 2011.

RAPE AND MOLESTATION

CCJ researchers succeeded in getting information regarding only 6 cases; 3 cases of rape and 3 cases of molestation. It was very difficult for the field researchers to ascertain the number of rape and molestation cases from each village due to social stigma, fear and other reasons. Researchers of CCJ also avoided doing work with issues of violence against women, as they were male and not sufficiently trained in these issues. Due to this, CCJ researchers could not pursue properly the work related to rapes and molestations.

MILITARISATION

In these 50 surveyed villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts CCJ researchers were able to study the presence of 19 camps of armed forces.

These 19 army camps have occupied a huge chunk of prime land from the village community land or of the villagers or the government land. Around 2047 Kanals of land in total has been occupied by these 19 camps across the 50 surveyed villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts.

It was learned that in these 50 surveyed villages, there are about 126 armed forces bunkers. Each bunker acts like a small camp and is responsible for surveillance, crackdowns, arrests, torture, killings, disappearances, custodial killings and harassment. Thus these camps are responsible for controlling lives and are used by the state to fragment the populations.

In earlier years many government and non-government properties were occupied by the armed forces in these villages and now that there is decrease in non-state violence and sophistication in the subjugation techniques the armed forces have given up the control of some of the government and private buildings. At this stage the armed forces still control around 11 houses/buildings in these 50 surveyed villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts.

Amongst the buildings occupied by armed forces, 4 are buildings of various government facilities and the remaining 7 are private houses.

DESTRUCTION OF RELIGIOUS PLACES

In the field research it was ascertained that there are 234 Mosques in the 50 surveyed villages of Baramulla and Kupwara districts of north Kashmir. While as there are 11 Hindu Temples and 3 Gurudwaras of Sikhs.

Out of the 234 Mosques, it was found out that 5 were destroyed at different times between 1989 and 2011 by the armed forces in the garb of anti-militancy operations.

Out of the 11 Hindu Temples it was found that 4 Temples have got destroyed. 1 has got damaged due to rain and snowfall and 3 temples were destroyed by unidentified and unarmed persons who according to the information shared by the villagers did not belong to their respective villages. CCJ also found that, in past land, some temples have also been occupied by the army.

Regarding the Gurudwaras in these 50 surveyed villages; it was found that they remained largely safe from any attacks from any side.

DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY

In the field study it came across that during last 22 years in these 50 surveyed villages a total of 700 properties were destroyed. The total worth of these properties damaged in the 50 surveyed villages is around 103.8 Crores.
